

FRANKLIN SYNDICAT.

Temporary Receiver Appointed—Louis H. Miller Has Had No Hearing. Similar Syndicates to Receive Attention.

New York, Nov. 27. Hubert G. Taylor, former county clerk of King's county, a lawyer in Brooklyn was appointed temporary receiver for the defunct Franklin syndicate bank today by Justice Smith of the supreme court. The application was made by Mr. Inglis O. Inglis, in his complaint. Inglis stated that he held twelve shares in the company. He also said that the general offices of the concern were in Jersey City, the directors being Clifford W. Perkins, Evans J. Dudley and Kenneth J. McLaverty, all residents of New Jersey. Wm. F. Miller, so the plaintiff alleged, was only the Brooklyn agent for the syndicate. According to Inglis, the liabilities would amount to $200,000, the assets being about $9,000. This money is now in the hands of the police. Taylor was required to furnish a bond of $15,000.

The hearing set down for today in the case of Louis H. Miller, brother of the missing man, did not take place in the Adams Street police court as was expected. Owing to the district attorney not being ready to proceed the matter was adjourned until Wednesday. Several witnesses who intended to testify in Miller's behalf were in court including Miss Gorrie, in whose house the money was found by the police and is alleged to have been secreted.

Assistant District Attorney Gillingham, who represented the people, was anxious that Miss Gorrie be put under bonds for appearance in court on Wednesday. Counsel for Louis Miller protested against this and the court ruled in his favor. After Miss Gorrie had promised that she would be on time on the day set for the examination, Counsel then asked that the bail of Miller be reduced. His motion was denied as he told the court that he could furnish the required sum of $1,000. A bail bond was then signed by Mrs. Elizabeth Timmons and the prisoner was allowed to leave.

John A. Daily, the assignee appointed for the bank of William F. Miller before the latter left the city, called at police headquarters today and made a demand on Capt. Reynolds for $8,520 which the captain took from the Floyd street house. The captain referred Daily to Property Clerk Burchford. The latter refused to turn the money over, telling Mr. Daily that he would keep it in his possession until ordered to turn it over to him by the court. Daily will probably apply for a mandamus tomorrow to compel the property clerk to give him the money.

Lawyer Ammon of Nassau street, Manhattan, did not call on District Attorney Steele today to enlighten him as to the whereabouts of Mr. Miller's former client, William F. Miller. Mr. Steele says he is positive that Ammon does not know where Miller is. The police officials have as yet found no trace of the missing man.

Other syndicates conducted phone lines similar to the Franklin are being investigated by the police and by the district attorney of King's county. William F. Miller, according to one report, succeeded in making his way to Hoboken, N. J., on the day that he escaped from the Brooklyn police and he is said to have been seen on a Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western train, presumably en route for Canada. Other reports have it that he is still in hiding in New York city, while many persons believe that he escaped on an outward bound train.

JOHN G. AGNEW ARRESTED. John G. Agnew, who says he is the manager of the Washington syndicate at No. 81 Greenpoint avenue, Brooklyn, was taken in custody this afternoon. Detective Behlen was the complainant and arrested the accused on a warrant issued by Magistrate Kramer, of the Lee avenue police court, Brooklyn, charging Agnew with violating section 609 of the penal code, which makes it a misdemeanor for a person to display a banker's sign on his premises when he does not rate as such. Agnew also had printed on his bill heads "Private banker."

The prisoner was later identified as the person who four years ago was arrested for running policy shops in Brooklyn. The indictment found against him then is still pending. Ball was fixed at $5,000. Agnew will have a hearing tomorrow.

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED. Washington, Nov. 27. The postmaster general today issued a fraud order, barring the mails against the Franklin syndicate of No. 144 Floyd street, Brooklyn. The order is addressed against the syndicate name and also specifically against William F. Miller, president, Cecil Leslie, secretary, and Louis H. Miller, cashier.

UNIQUE SITUATION.

Mr. Morris' Withdrawal from Cuban Colonial Ministry Causes Strange Political Condition.

St. John, N. F., Nov. 27. A unique political situation has been created by Mr. Morris' withdrawal from the Colonial ministry. Sir James Winter, the premier, can rely upon a following of ten in the legislature. Mr. Morris has the same number of supporters. Mr. Fonda, the leader of the opposition, has ten and Mr. Morris leads six independents. It is practically impossible to bring about a coalition between any two of these leaders.

Early in January the legislature will meet and the new ministry will be formed.

The colonel stands six feet and weighs 216 pounds and is robust and could yet stand a campaign only for the rheumatism in his gun shot wounds in his body and arm. He visited Machias several times previous to the advent of the railroad but this is his first visit since that event. He says the railroad has given the town a different appearance and he predicts a period of prosperity such as the people never before enjoyed. He says that Machias, with the facilities for business which are now very apparent, should have a population of 10,000 in the near future.

AMUSEMENTS.

Frankie Carpenter Greeted Warmly By a Packed House, Monday Night.

On Monday evening at the Opera House, Frankie Carpenter supported by Jere Grady, and an excellent company, made her initial performance of a week's engagement in this city. The play was "Fawn Tippet 210" and long before the curtain rose the sign, "Standing Room Only" stared the late comers in the face. The play is one which is so familiar to Bangor people that it needs no explanation here. It is a melodrama with plenty of comedy in it, and Frankie made the most of all the funny parts, and kept the crowd in good spirits from first to last.

She is brighter, prettier and more pleasing than ever, and the welcome that Bangor gave her last night proves conclusively that she holds a very warm place in the hearts of the people. The specialties which were introduced during the performance were clever and took greatly with the audience. Mr. Jere Grady, in the part of the Rev. Uncle Harris, was excellent and his portrayal of the character was well done. The other members of the company were fully equal to the parts entrusted to them and the whole play was well staged. Much special scenery of which the company carries a car load, was used and created much favorable comment.

THE GAME RECORD.

Some Hints For the Great Feasting Day.

On Monday the turkey supply for Bangor's Thanksgiving commenced to arrive, and in the forenoon the market in Pickering square was an interesting place. Several teams came in from the surrounding country piled high with exceptionally fine looking turkeys, and the dickerings and barginings which followed the arrival proved that the thrifit for which New England has always been noted is not a thing of the past. One man who brought a load of 50 or more took home but a very few, and many other teams which did not bring so many took home none at all.

Monday was practically the first day that the turkey trade has been open and it was a good one. Today and tomorrow will undoubtedly be record breakers. The turkey men report the turkey crop a good one, and the fact is evidenced by the many specimens of the species which have come to town already.

The markets are full of not only turkeys, but all the other good things which are necessary to round out hungry Bangor's Thanksgiving dinner, and the price is very pleasant.

BROKE APART.

Freight Wreck Near Old Round House.

Train Parted On a Down Grade Together With One Injured.

On Monday evening at 6:20 the freight train number 26, which is due in Bangor from Vanceboro at 6 o'clock, was wrecked at a point about 200 yards below the roundhouse, and opposite Birch street.

The accident was caused by the breaking in two of the train on the down grade somewhere between this city and Venzia. The break was evidently not discovered in time for the engine with the head end to get away from the rear section which, gaining impetus on the grade, crashed into the head end. Two cars on the front end of the rear section were derailed. The first car was an empty flat, which was doubled up like paper; and the second, which was heavily loaded with lumber, had its forward trucks knocked out and the timbers broke in the middle.

As soon as the accident was heard of in this city Superintendent White sent a crew of men to the scene of the trouble and the wrecked cars were cleared from the track.

The Bangor and Aroostook train which is due in this city at 7:30 was of course delayed by the accident, and did not reach the station here until about 11 o'clock.

Fortunately, no one was injured in the affair.

IN MEMORY.

The vestry of St. Luke's parish, Episcopal, in Portland, has decided to finish the cathedral according to the original plan and will build the towers at a cost of $10,000, as a memorial to the late Bishop Neely, by whom the church was built.

This decision was reached at a parish meeting held while Bishop Hall of Vermont was here.

The work will begin as soon as possible. This will complete the cathedral according to the plan originally approved by Bishop Neely, who hoped to the last to live to finish the work himself.

A new industry is about to be started in Pittsfield in the shape of a corn factory. Friday evening a meeting of the business men of that village was held at the Lancy House and the matter of building a factory in that village was freely discussed. The meeting was addressed by a man from New York who now operates a large factory in the state, and who wishes the town of Pittsfield to build him another large factory, under the same circumstances, by which the creamery was recently built. It was shown that nearly all of the business men of the town were in favor of the new industry, but it was deemed best not to make any decided move until it could be ascertained among the farmers how much acreage could be subscribed for the support of the new industry. A careful investigation will be made to ascertain this point, after which another meeting will be called and something definite will be decided upon.

Miss Madeline Neal, who has been very sick in Belfast for several weeks with typhoid fever, has recovered and was able to return to her home in Pittsfield Saturday. Miss Neal is one of Pittsfield's leading young ladies, and her many friends are pleased to learn of her recovery.

The school at the Maine Central Institute closed Friday for a vacation of two weeks.

John C. Thompson, who has been foreman in the office of the Pittsfield Printing Co. for the last two years, has resigned his position and entered the American Express office, where he will earn the business. Alton White has accepted the position of foreman in the printing office.

E. F. Gould has resigned his position as cutter in the meat department of the W. M. Pray department store. He expects to soon go to Boston, where he has a position in a large meat market.

STATE OF MAINE.

THANKSGIVING
PROCLAMATION

By the Governor.

As we approach the termination of the year we should be devoutly conscious of the manifold blessings which have been vouchsafed to us by our God, and all that shall hereafter with no gratitude be denied. Abundant harvests, successful business activity, and enterprise, unprejudiced property, happiness, and progress have signalized our country, which has reached the zenith of its strength. Fortune and man's own temporal blessing—of health, for example, from all calamities and dangerous diseases—for high religious and educational privileges and advancements, and especially for the welfare of our young people, have been added to the last measure of humanity, justice, and good government that has ruled and governed our onward march as a people among the nations of the earth. We have indeed, abundant reasons for giving thanks, and for being grateful, and for expressing our thanks to the Lord of Hosts, who has indeed been "a shield" and excellent "a rock" to us. The Lord of Hosts, we beseech, is indeed excellent and excellent in "bearing" the burdens of the people. Governor, I, Llewellyn Powers, Governor of the State of Maine, conforming to and adopting the same name in the Thanksgiving proclamation of the President of the United States, do, with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, hereby designate as a day of general Thanksgiving, to be observed by all the inhabitants of our State in their homes and churches. And I earnestly request them that day to refrain from all unnecessary labor, and also to remember, by appropriate gifts and contributions, the poor, the unfortunate, and the suffering—charity and benevolence are the truest and most blessed gifts that can be offered to man, whose "hand has been upon me for good" and whose goodness and guidance we, as all, desire to thankfully recognize and acknowledge.

Thursday, the 30th Day of November, A. D. 1894,

Given at the Executive Council, at the State House, on the 23rd day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and nineteen, and the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and twenty-fourth.

By the Governor,

BYRON BOYD, Secretary of State.

A Great Commander.

It was a handsome and well-deserved compliment that Captain Hoes paid Rear Admiral Sampson at the meeting in Brockton, Saturday.

Captain Hoes was formerly stationed on the battleship Iowa, where he had splendid opportunities to observe and study the character of Admiral Sampson. "No words can describe," said the speaker, "the respect and admiration in which he was held in the war and the events which led up to it, whether, as captain of the battleship Iowa, to which I was attached, or later as commander of the largest fleet ever assembled at one time in one place under the American flag. From the first day of the war to the annihilation of Cervera's fleet a feeling of absolute confidence pervaded the ships of the squadron, which was wholly based upon the high estimate placed by both officers and men upon the technical ability and unquestioned professional qualities of its commander-in-chief. I doubt whether any soldier or sailor ever commanded a higher degree of respect from his subordinates, or ever combined in himself more of the various qualifications of exalted leadership."

These are not the words of an enthusiastic writer, but the calm judgment of one who participated in the stirring events that formed a most brilliant chapter in the naval history of the world, and one in a position to know whereto he speaks. Such commendation from a brave man who was in the midst of the great battle sweeps into oblivion the cheap criticism of those detractors, or rather, would-be-detractors—for their words carry little weight—who have so persistently but unsuccessfully sought to deprive Admiral Sampson of the credit of his remarkable achievement.

In conclusion the speaker said: "So carefully was every detail arranged, so completely every possible exigency anticipated, that when the supreme moment came, the result was the same as it would have been had Sampson, Schley, Capt. Evans and all the commanding officers been in Washington and the battle had been fought under subversive officers. Men may easily forget if they will, many of the conspicuous instances in the career of Admiral Sampson, but thoughtful and discriminating men, men whose judgment carries weight and influence, will never fail to remember them."

—From the "Advertiser" of New

bringing the Spanish-American war to a speedy and successful close, according to the world, with Paraguay, the trinity of naval commanders whose deeds will be indelibly recorded on the pages of our history, and whose valor will ever shed the brightest lustre on our national career."

The high estimate placed upon the character and ability of Admiral Sampson is in perfect accord with the prevailing sentiment in the fleet. With one accord they testify to the thoroughness with which the commander had prepared for the supreme moment. Not a single detail was omitted in the plan of battle, and when the crucial test came every captain on every ship knew just what he was expected to do, and did it in exact accord with the directions previously received from the commander-in-chief.

Some Instructive Facts

The Iron Age, a standard American authority on metals, has rendered the country a valuable service in preparing a diagram that traces in a very clear manner the prevailing price of tin plate from 1890 down to the present date. As this industry was made the subject for vicious attacks on the part of the free trade press, its rapid advancement in the face of persistent opposition and misrepresentation affords a striking illustration of the successful operation of the protective tariff.

In 1890 this country was absolutely dependent upon foreign production for its tin plate, and the prevailing price was $4.75 per box. In 1893 the price had advanced until the consumers in this country were paying $5.50 per box. At this time the American tin plate industry, a product of the McKinley tariff law, began to make itself felt with the result that the price of Welsh tin plate fell from $5.50 per box in 1893 to $3.75 a box at the close of the year 1895.

At this point the American industry disappointed its detractors by becoming the controlling factor in the tin plate market. Here was the time for the prediction of the free traders to develop itself by the infant industry called into existence by a "robber-tariff" "sapping the life" out of the consumers. But nothing of the kind occurred. A though the masters of the situation, the manufacturers of American tin plate did not put up prices under a healthful competition the price of tin plate steadily declined until along toward the close of 1898 when the price had dropped to $2.75 per box.

It will be seen that at this time instead of "robbing the people" the effect of this new industry, created by the McKinley tariff law had been to give the people their tin plate at precisely one-half the price they were paying for the Welsh tin plate before the new law went into operation.

Beginning with 1899, in response to the largely increased cost of materials and wages, tin plate prices took an upward turn, reaching $4.75 per box early in the fall of this year. The present price is $4.65. But it will be observed that the rise of the current year has not carried prices back to the free trade level of 1891 to 1892. The home consumer of tin plate is today paying 35 cents per box less than he paid in 1891, when the foreign producer was master of the situation and American competition had not yet come to the front as a result of the protective tariff.

One more fact remains to be considered. A glance at the high range of prices paid for tin plate by American consumers prior to the establishment of the industry in our own country reveals an impressive contrast with the low range of prices that have prevailed since the time when American tin plate producers were able to control the situation. Taken as a whole and counting in the present advanced price, resulting, as before stated, from heavy advances in cost of materials and heavy advances in the wages of tin plate workers, it is found that many millions of dollars have been saved through protection to the consumers of tin plate from 1891 to date, to say nothing of the many millions of dollars kept at home and paid out to American labor in the shape of wages.

Rev. Mr. Perry, secretary of the Maine Civil League, who was too weak to do so on account of illness, which was a great disappointment to the people of Bangor.

Mr. F. C. Park has just finished putting a fine bath room into the residence of Prof. Harrington.

The Ursula club met Monday night with Mrs. William Thompson. The lesson was on the life of Benjamin Franklin.

A large number attended the assembly at Monitor Hall, arranged by George Stevens and Llewellyn Spencer.

MISSES

Can always be had at Lynch's. No 2d quality kept by us.

Don't buy beef because it is cheap. Cheap meats when the market is firm surely indicate an inferior quality. Be very careful about your meats. Good meats cost less than doctor bills. Remember that the poorest cut from a corn-fed animal is better than the best cut from a grass-fed one. To be sure of getting the best the market affords, buy your meats at

SPORTING WORD

General Notes of Professional and Amateur Sports From All Aboar.

The Latest Events Happening From Day to Day—Foot Ball, Base Ball, The Prize Ring and Games of All Sorts.

The business of presenting fake productions of big boxing contests has been so remunerative in the past that it has served to induce several combinations to put fake pictures of the Jeffries-Sharkey championship contest on the market. One of them is a most miserable presentation of the contest, twenty rounds of which were surreptitiously obtained and the balance faked in. Numerous persons have been induced to view these fraudulent pictures, by gilding posting, which would lead persons to believe that they are the genuine pictures of the contest. Those who have seen these fraud pictures bitterly denounce them.

It is stated that in a fake reproduction of the Jeffries-Sharkey contest, the Hayne, who is fully seventy pounds lighter than the champion, impersonated Jeffries, while Johnny Gorman acted the part of Sharkey. These pictures were taken at White Plains, N. Y., and the intention is to flood the country with them. The genuine pictures of the big fight have not been shown in New England as yet, but it is understood that arrangements have been made whereby they will be presented in Boston this week. These genuine pictures will tell the real tale of the contest.

Big Connie McVey, Jim Corbett's boxer, was arrested in New York for assault the other day. Most of McVey's record has been gained outside of the ring, excepting the occasion at the time of the job to save Corbett when Sharkey was beating him a year ago.

BICYCLING.

Political talk in the League of American Wheelmen seems to agree that the champion of the world for the championship of the world, President Thomas J. Keenan, Jr., will succeed himself in the office at the coming assembly, chiefly because there is great dearth this year of presidential timber. Frank F. Van Valkenburg, formerly chief consul of Wisconsin, having resigned his membership in the L. A. W., removed the Western leader, who began long ago to lay plans for the presidency of 1901, and who might have been induced to run earlier.

Another regular member of national tickets is removed from ante-election popularity by the resignation of Chief Consul C. Frank Krieker of New Jersey. Mr. Krieker, who has been in harness for the league for many years, has decided that membership in it has lost its value since it split on the racing question, and has forwarded his resignation to Secretary Alton Bennett. Mr. Krieker was also vice president of the League last year, and has governed the New Jersey division with undraped authority.

This leaves the field open to Mr. Keenan. His reasons for wishing another term are that he is anxious to carry certain plans he has been working for some time. Among these are the completion of further alliances with foreign touring associations, to expand the touring advantages offered by the national touring bureau, and the passing of a national highway improvement bill.

It is stated that National Secretary Jessie will oppose Mr. Keenan's election, but this is hardly probable.

There is a gradual withering of the vital forces of nature. The grass dies. In nature there is a certain vitality in the autumn and fifty years, man's and there is need to renew health and strength.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Fleece is to the body what it contains and complements out of which the fabric of beauty, this great medicine, is raised in quantity and will pass across life's stage with healthy step.

The Modem's "Globe" will hold their business meeting Thursday evening, business meeting, Thanksgiving, at 2 o'clock. M. H. McInerney, Sen. from Boston, will be present as chairman of Exposition Committee before the meeting.

The funeral of the Rev. Mrs. Charles Simpkins was held Monday afternoon. The Rev. E. F. Pemberton officiated and Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Morton sang. The leaders were Mr. J. P. Nichols, Mr. McLaughlin, Mr. Conklin and Mr. Little. Abel Ruth had charge.

Oscar Pickett, the well known meat dealer, received an order from the Katahdin Pulp and Paper company Monday morning for 60 turkeys and three bushels of cranberries. This looks as if the employees of that concern were going to be fed on Thanksgiving day.

The Epworth League of Grace M. E. church will hold a special Thanksgiving service on Wednesday evening of this week. There will be a bright and interesting devotional hour, followed by miscellaneous exercises appropriate to the occasion. Mr. H. H. Otters will lead a chorus choir will lead the singing.

The Haynes' & Chalmers Co. received on Monday a car load of very bad dried beans, which were piled up on the sidewalk in front of their store on Exchange street, Monday afternoon. This looks as if Bangor boys and girls were going to have some great fun this winter if there is only snow enough.

A very quiet wedding will take place in Hampden this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of the bride, when Mr. W. H. Doan will be invited in the name of Miss Carrie, R. C. L. Avery, 41, Leland, both well and favorably known in Hampden and Bangor. Mr. Doan being a physician in that town the presents have been very handsomely given. Mr. and Mrs. Doan will leave on the 133 P. M. train for a short visit in Boston with W. L. Cogges, a brother-in-law of the bride. Their many friends will extend their congratulations.

Hon. Edward Wiggin, the statistician of the United States Department of Agriculture has received the November crop "bulletin" from the headquarters of the department in Washington. It is to be gathered that the crop conditions and results of the whole world. From the Maine section it is found that the average number of bushels of wheat of this year was 50, while the average number of bushels of potatoes to the acre was 20, the average yield of the crop was 100 per cent. The average yield was 100 per cent. The average yield of buckwheat was 22 bushels with 35 per cent. quality. The average yield of turnips realized 17 per cent. of green top and 54 per cent. of green.

The following company, Saturday, filed a certificate of incorporation, The Aroostook County Pomona Orange Seed Association, organized at Fort Fairfield, for the purpose of raising and dealing in seed-potatoes (with $10,000 capital stock) which $6000 is paid in. The officers are: President, F. P. Grant of Fort Fairfield; treasurer, A. L. Hayes of Fort Fairfield. Certificate approved, Nov. 22, 1899.

Many of our lady readers will not need the suggestion, but others may not think of it in season to obtain the while, and to them we would suggest that the way to obtain a first class reliable cook book is to cut out from each of the Saturday "Whig," "Morning," with last Saturday, the section in the Woman's column, and paste them into a scrap book, and they will soon have a reliable cook book that they would not part with.

The crew of the Maine Central shops is so rushed with work that it is necessary to run a part of the shop nights. The machine shop have been running Sundays since last spring. All the engines and cars must be fitted with the air brakes before the beginning of the new year, and in order that the work may be accomplished it is necessary to run the shops until 10 o'clock in the evening. Nearly all the cars are fitted with the brakes and the work is now being done on the locomotives. Two new combination smoker and baggage cars have been turned out of the painter's shop and are in the hands of the painters.

DONATION DAY.

Eastern Maine General Hospital Ready to Receive Thanksgiving Supplies—Improvements Made.

Today occurs the annual "donation day" for the Eastern Maine General Hospital. With the enlarged accommodations the hospital is now well equipped, numbered 5000 persons.

For the Thanksgiving dinner turkeys, chickens, cranberries, cranberries and apples will be acceptable, also canned goods, fishes and other delicacies for the sick. Any odd pots of beans are pretty dishes for the Thanksgiving table, olives, pickles, olives, dried fruits, plantains for single beds and towels, always needed. Some plantains and beans for the patients.

General alterations are being made in what is now the "administrative building" at the hospital. The wards are being divided by partitions into offices and rooms necessary to the increasing needs of the family. The first time in the history of the institution the nurses are to have a sitting room, which should be attractive and restful. Therefore in addition to the gifts already mentioned
